

PUBLIC HEALTH

3rd year dental students

Department of Dermatology and Allergology, Simon Miklos Room (BR-100-6)

Friday, 8:00-9:30

WEEK	LECTURE	PRACTICE
1 st	10 September Requirements of the semester. Definition of public health, dental public health. Health influencing factors. The levels of prevention. Basic principles of health promotion. Measuring health status of the population – basics of demography. Dr. Papp András	-
2 nd	-	17 September The global health situation; priorities in global health. Demographic indexes and their use. Measuring mortality. Analysis of statistical databases.
3 rd	24 September Measuring health status of the population – basics of epidemiology. Dr. Paulik Edit	-
4 th	-	1 October Epidemiological indexes and their use; epidemiological studies: cross sectional, case-control, cohort, and interventional studies. Planning and preparation of epidemiological surveys. Case studies.
5 th	8 October Epidemiology of cardiovascular diseases and tumours. Dr. Maróti-Nagy Ágnes	-
6 th	-	15 October Practical aspects of the prevention of cardiovascular diseases. The role of screening in prevention of chronic diseases. Prevention of tumours.
7 th	22 October Epidemiology of selected chronic noncommunicable conditions (respiratory, musculoskeletal, gastrointestinal, and metabolic diseases) Epidemiology of suicide and accidents Dr. Máté Zsuzsanna
8 th	-	29 October. Dental prevention (oral cancer, caries) and health education. Health and health care in the family (mother, infants, youth and elderly people).
9 th	5 November Epidemiology of smoking, alcohol and drug consumption. Dr. Paulik Edit	-
10 th	-	12 November Theories of behaviour change. Smoking cessation guidelines for health professionals.
11 th	19 November Nutrition in public health. Malnutrition. Food quality and safety. Dr. Maróti-Nagy Ágnes	-
12 th	-	26 November Measuring nutritional status. Healthy diet. Dietary guidelines. Dietary counselling in the dental practice. Case studies.
13 th	3 December Structure and operation of health systems, dental practice in Europe. Dr. Zsiros Viktória	-
14 th	-	10 December Occupational health, occupational hazards and their prevention in dental care.